Blast Off!

This week our campers soared off into outer space! The kids constructed their own telescope and observed the amazing constellations that are in our sky.

They cracked open moon rocks only to discover a little alien hiding inside. We learned the order of all our planets in our solar system by playing world planet games. We also made Earth solar sun catchers that illuminate when the sun shines on it. The kids also launched their own rockets using Alka-Seltzer and club soda.

Finally, the campers truly had an out of this world experience visiting the Endeavor at the California Science Center and exploring an astronaut's way of life while onboard the shuttle.
